Just before we prepare for another winter, we have a free, informative workshop on

HOME ENERGY CONSERVATION

27th. September 2008

10:00am - Noon

Eden Mills Community Hall

“Improving your home’s energy efficiency is one of the best investments you can make.....home insulation is better than just about any other low-risk, long-term investment ”

Natural Resources Canada, Keeping The Heat In

- Learn ways in which you can cut that carbon while cutting costs.
- Review what last year’s Household Survey told us about our footprint.
- Hear what a couple of star conservation neighbours have achieved.
- What measures make the most sense?
- Where to start, how to prioritise?
- How to develop a long-term plan?
- Ask about your particular concerns.
- Find out what government grants are available.

Some measures cost nothing. Some cost a moderate amount. And you might consider other bigger ticket items only when your old ones are crying out to be replaced. There is always something you can do to lower your energy costs and your CO2 emissions.

The University of Guelph students will be carrying out the second Household Survey next January.

Come and learn about the most effective ways to lower your emissions in time to make a difference.
